High Performance Computing Distributed Center

Welcome

SGI™ Origin™ Family of Servers

The RTTC High Performance Computing Distributed Center (HPCDC) uses multi-CPU SGI computers to facilitate the computing needs of RTTC personnel as well as others in the DoD community. A breakdown of our users is shown below.

- 75 – 80% are RTTC or Research and Development Engineering Center (RDEC) personnel that use the Center for their Virtual Proving Ground (VPG) work to generate or drive the synthetic environments they require
- 15 – 20% are personnel, located on Redstone Arsenal, that use the Center's computing resources for non-VPG work
- 2 – 5% are offsite personnel, such as weapon system contractors, that also use the Center for their Virtual Proving Ground (VPG) work to generate or drive the synthetic environments they require

The Center is also a distribution site for the High Performance Computing Modernization Office (HPCMO).
