The Redstone Technical Test Center (RTTC) is a U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command (ATEC) tenant activity located on Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Alabama. RTTC is one of the eight test centers that comprise the Developmental Test Command (DTC), headquartered at the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

RTTC's primary service is to provide advanced testing of weapon systems for the Department of Defense (DoD), its contractors, and friendly governments. The Center provides advanced testing in two major areas.

The first is flight-testing for small rockets and guided missiles.

The second is life-cycle advanced testing for weapon system Components and Subsystems.
