

The screenshot shows the top portion of the RTTC website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with buttons for: Welcome, Who We Are, What We Do, Resources, How We Work, Where We Are Going, and How We Meet Our Customers' Needs. Below this is the United States Army logo and the RTTC title. A banner image shows military vehicles. On the left is a vertical navigation menu with buttons for: Web Site Map/Navigation Outline, Doing Business With RTTC, Employment Information, Contacting Us, Keyword/Key Phrase Search, Links to Related Sites, Acknowledgement, Hi Perf. Computing Distributed Center, Request Test Services, and Home. On the right is a circular logo with the text 'FOR THE SOLDIER'.

Information for Statistical Purposes

Below is an example of the information collected based on a standard request for a World Wide Web document.

123.123.23.12 - - 12/21/01, 0:39:40, W3SVC,
WWW-DTC,
456.456.56.45, 481, 181, 9900, 200, 0,
Get, /CommunityInvolvement.htm, -,

123.123.23.12 – this is the host name (or IP address) associated with the requester (you as the visitor). In this case, depending on the requester's method of network connection, the host name (or IP address) may or may not identify a specific computer. Connections via many Internet Service Providers assign different IP addresses for each session, so the host name identifies only the ISP. The host name (or IP address) will identify a specific computer if that computer has a fixed IP address.

12/21/01, 0:39:40 – this is the date and time of the request.

W3SVC – this is the service.

WWW-DTC – this is the systems name.

456.456.56.45 – this is the responding host address.

481, 181 – this is the click location.

9900 – this is the size of the requested file in bytes.

200 – this is the status code –200 is okay – the request was filled.

Get, /CommunityInvolvement.htm – this is the location of the requested file.

Requests for other types of documents use similar information. No other user-identifying information is collected.
